Dear Professor Ciaia and Professor Elberling,

I hope this email finds you both well.

We are currently preparing an application for the 2026 Gansu Provincial Science and Technology Award. As part of the supporting documentation for this nomination, we intend to include our co-authored paper, "Warming, permafrost thaw and increased nitrogen availability as drivers for plant composition and growth across the Tibetan Plateau," to substantiate our research achievements.

In accordance with the award's specific application guidelines and our current team structure, please note that you will not be listed as formal awardees for this particular provincial nomination. I am writing to formally seek your explicit consent to utilize our paper under these conditions.

If you are amenable to this arrangement, I kindly request that you provide your electronic signatures. This is a mandatory requirement by the evaluation committee to issue the official "Informed Consent Form" (知情同意证明).

I have attached a draft of the consent form to this email for your review. Should you find everything in order, please kindly append your electronic signatures to the document (or send them as separate files) and return it at your earliest convenience.

Thank you very much for your continuous support, understanding, and excellent collaboration. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Dear Prof Yun and Prof Qu,

Thank you for reaching out, and I hope you are doing well.

I fully support your application for the 2026 Gansu Provincial Science and Technology Award. I hereby give my explicit consent for you to include our co-authored paper, "Warming, permafrost thaw and increased nitrogen availability as drivers for plant composition and growth across the Tibetan Plateau," in your nomination materials.

I also confirm my understanding and agreement that I will not be listed as a formal awardee for this specific nomination.

Please find the signed "Informed Consent Form" and my electronic signature attached to this email.

Wishing you the best of luck with the application!

Best regards,

Philippe Ciaia

Dear Prof Yun and Prof Qu,

Thank you for your email.

I am pleased to give my permission to use our joint publication, "Warming, permafrost thaw and increased nitrogen availability as drivers for plant composition and growth across the Tibetan Plateau," to support your nomination for the Gansu Provincial Science and Technology Award.

I acknowledge and agree to the condition that I will not be included as a formal awardee for this provincial award.

I have attached my electronic signature as requested. Please let me know if you need anything else from my side. Good luck with the submission!

Sincerely,

Bo Elberling
